Recruitment done differently.

WE ARE CORRICULO

Corriculo is an IT specialist recruitment agency with offices in Oxford and Bristol. Founded in 2013, with the vision of 'doing recruitment differently', our company aim is to:

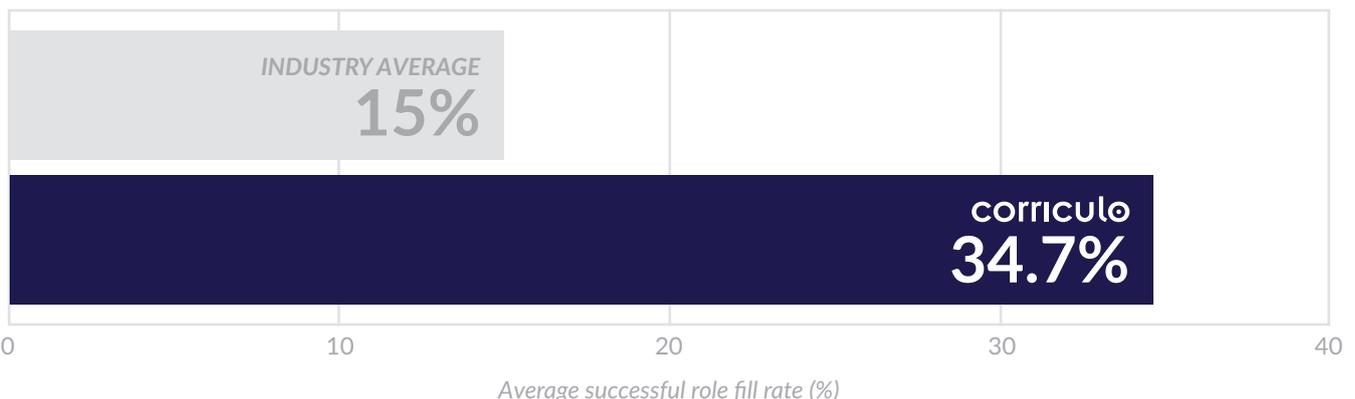

"Provide a personalised, tailored approach to recruitment that suits you and your team"

We work with a wide range of companies, from start-ups to large organisations, within the tech industry to grow and develop their teams. Regardless of size, we know it's vital to have quality employees who are motivated and contributing towards your business objectives and goals.

We aim to provide you with a range of well-suited, quality candidates that are informed, engaged and enthusiastic about your role and company.

Although we specialise in IT and tech roles, we know that when it comes to growing your team, you'll need to recruit people from various disciplines, with a variety of skills. In order to offer a time and cost-efficient, streamlined recruitment process for our clients, we now offer a complete recruitment solution.

We successfully fill more than double of the roles we work compared to industry average:

OUR TEAM

Over the years, our Corriculo teams have grown considerably. From our two founding members, to more than twenty recruitment specialists, still driven by the desire to provide a high-quality effective service for both candidates and clients.

Our team structure at Corriculo is unique for a recruitment agency.

With our Account Management team solely working with clients, and our Sourcing Consultant teams with only candidates, there is no compromise on the quality of service on either side of the business.

VALUES

At Corriculo we have values and behaviours that truly guide how we work.

These values set the expectations for our clients and candidates of how they can expect us to behave and represent our desire to work ethically and morally, which we know can be rare within the recruitment industry.

For this reason, working to our values is extremely important to us as it's vital to achieving our company vision of "doing recruitment differently".

Honesty and Transparency

We promote an open and honest culture.

Continuous Improvement

We don't stand still, not even for a minute.

Understanding

We are human, and so are you.

Sharing

We put sharing at the heart of all we do.

Investing in the wider community

With more companies than ever before looking to employ highly-skilled and experienced IT professionals, and a skill shortage in the tech industry, recruiting can be challenging.

We get involved with local tech and developer communities to help where we can, and provide support for them to grow and flourish. Across both Oxfordshire and Bristol, we have identified a few groups and now regularly sponsor their meetup events.

WORKING WITH US

To successfully service an ever-changing market, we have created various models of recruitment to benefit the companies we work with. We're confident that we have a recruitment solution to meet your challenges. We offer not only contingency recruitment solutions, but also contractor recruitment and RPO solutions for both start-up and established businesses.

In the interest of offering a consistent, high-quality, market leading recruitment service to every one of our clients, we work across both IT and non-IT roles. We do this in order to streamline your recruitment process and make it easier for you to find the right people for your growing teams.

No two roles are the same...

...neither are two companies.

Corriculo treats every company and role individually. Your Account Manager will devise, recommend and agree your recruitment strategy prior to commencing work. They will then look to execute that strategy, to effectively source the best talent for you. We're extremely flexible in approach and committed to finding the best solution to build you a strong, reliable team.
